Platter Chatter - Reheated

By Lin Smithwick

Where is that spatula when it's needed the most?

The house is a mess. The job's a mess. Let's face it, there are times when life is a mess. And now it's dinner time.

A common solution to feeding hungry appetites is throwing together the quickest meal imaginable. Healthy? Not always. Delicious? Sometimes.

The idea of preparing healthy meals when time and empty stomachs are demanding attention may seem out of the question.

Meet Christy Rost, a nationally known celebrity chef and cookbook author (www.christyrost.com). She is a lady who has answers for everyday food dilemmas offering fast and healthy meal advice and recipes. Her latest cookbook, "Where's My Spatula - Fast and Healthy Meals for When Your Kitchen or Your Life is a Mess" - is filled with great recipes and cooking tips.

Rost made a special appearance in North Dakota last week touring the state with Kate Pfennig, who owns Catherine's For Lamb (www.catherinesforlamb.com) on a farm near Driscoll, N.D. They spent several hours Thursday at Farmers Market and Beyond in West Fargo. Sponsored by the West Fargo Park District, the Farmers Market features vendors with fresh produce and arts and crafts. The market is open Thursdays, 4-7 p.m. until Oct. 14 and Saturdays 9 a.m.-1 p.m. until Oct. 16.

Kate is among the popular vendors frequently at the Farmers Market with many of her fresh cuts of lamb and her special mint sauce, mint jellies and lamb seasoning. Last week, Christy Rost was a special guest who created an original recipe for lamb kabobs, which they prepared on site.

Christy lives in Dallas, Texas with her husband, Randy, when they aren't in their second home in Breckenridge, Colo. This was her first trip to North Dakota. "This is very exciting - Kate and I are enjoying meeting so many interesting and nice people."

As people stopped to ask questions and sample the kabobs she was grilling, Christy talked food and cooking with everyone. Her enthusiasm added even more sizzle to the great-tasting kabobs. "People don't always realize how easy it is to create healthy meals even when there isn't much time." Christy and Kate stressed the importance of supporting locally grown items. "It is so important to buy local," Christy exclaimed. "This is a wonderful market and you have such a good selection of fresh items." She believes people are returning to their roots and appreciate farming more than ever. "I think people are more and more excited about using fresh ingredients and trying new recipes."

Christy says she does use recipes, but believes knowing some basic techniques gives cooks more latitude. "If you know how to create a good sauce that can be made with variations, you can easily make a great dish in a relatively brief amount of time."

A well-stocked pantry and a refrigerator filled with a variety of favorite foods also makes daily meal planning and preparation less challenging. Her "spatula" book contains lists of what's needed in a ready-to-cook kitchen.

From the first lemon meringue pie she made when she was 12 to being a newspaper food editor to a year living in Paris and to her national programs on PBS, Christy has always loved baking and cooking. "This is a passion for me and I believe people should follow their passions."

This fall, her latest PBS show - "A Home for Christy Rost: Thanksgiving" - will be aired on Prairie Public. The program was filmed in the Rosts' century-old home in Breckenridge,

Celebrity chef and cookbook author, Christy Rost, grills up some kabobs during a stop last week at Farmers Market and Beyond in West Fargo. which they have been restoring. She was writing "Where's My Spatula" during the renovation process. With a smile that seldom leaves her face, she quipped, "Believe me, I know what it is like to have a mess everywhere and not being able to find my spatula."

Grilled Moroccan Lamb Kabobs with Tzatziki

1 ½ tps. ground coriander
1 tsp. cumin
½ tsp. Saigon cinnamon
½ tsp. coarse salt
½ tsp. freshly ground black pepper
Boneless lamb sirloin, sliced into 1-inch cubes
Small zucchini squash, sliced into 1/2-inch thick pieces
Red onions, peeled and sliced into 1-inch pieces
Olive oil
Bamboo skewers, soaked in water for 24 hours

In a small bowl, stir together coriander, cumin, salt and pepper; set aside. Thread piece of zucchini on skewers to expose cut sides; add a cube of lamb and slices of onion. Continue with remaining kabobs. Brush kabobs lightly on both sides with olive oil and sprinkle lightly with reserved spice mixture. Cover and chill the kabobs until ready to cook.

Preheat grill to medium heat. Place the kabobs on the grill and cook, turning occasionally, until the vegetables are tender and the meat is still pink inside (about 10-15 minutes, depending on grill). Serve with a dollop of tzatziki sauce next to the kabob on each plate. Garnish with a tiny sprinkle of fresh mint or dill.

Tzatziki

2 8-oz. containers Greek or plain yogurt
2 cucumbers, seeded and finely chopped
3 cloves garlic, peeled and minced
½ tsp. coarse salt
¼ tsp. white pepper
2 tps. chopped fresh mint or dill

1 lemon, juiced

In a large bowl, stir together yogurt, cucumbers, garlic, salt, pepper, and fresh mint. Add lemon juice and stir well. Cover and chill at least two hours before serving to allow flavors to blend.

Chicken Piccata

4 boneless skinless chicken breast halves
½ cup flour
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. freshly ground black pepper
1 tbsp. olive oil
1 tbsp. unsalted butter
¾ cup chicken stock or broth
½ cup dry white wine
1 lemon, halved and thinly sliced
1/3 cup sliced black olives
1 tbsp. capers, rinsed and drained

Rinse the chicken breasts and dry them on paper towels. Place each chicken breast between sheets of plastic wrap on a cuttings board and pound them with a meat mallet or cast-iron skillet to ½-inch thickness; set aside.

Preheat a large skillet over medium heat. While the skillet is heating, stir together the flour, salt and pepper in a large shallow bowl or plate. Dredge each chicken breast in the flour mixture, add the olive oil and butter to the skillet. Place chicken in the skillet. Cook the meat until it is golden brown on one side, about three minutes. Turn over and cook two or three minutes more, or until it is golden brown.

When meat is done, transfer it a serving platter and keep warm. Deglaze pan with chicken stock and wine, stirring well to scrape up brown bits. Add lemon slices and cook until the liquid is reduced by half. Return the meat to the skillet and stir in the black olives and capers. Cook two minutes and serve.

Quick Apple Cobbler with Lemon-Rosemary Drop Biscuits

2 21-oz cans apple pie filling (any canned filling can be used)
4 tbsps. plus 2 tps. sugar, divided
½ tsp. cinnamon
1/8 tsp. allspice
1/8 tsp. freshly ground nutmeg
1 ½ cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup cold unsalted butter, cut into 8 pieces
2 tps. lemon zest
1 tsp. finely chopped fresh rosemary
2/3 cup buttermilk

Vanilla ice cream, optional

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In a medium bowl, stir together the pie filling, two tablespoons of the sugar, the cinnamon, allspice and nutmeg until well blended. Pour the mixture into a 9-inch casserole or baking pan and set aside.

In a large bowl, stir together the flour, two tablespoons of the sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt until well blended. Cut cold butter into the flour mixture with a pastry blender or two knives until the butter is pea-size. Quickly stir in the lemon zest, rosemary and buttermilk until the dough is light and fluffy.

Drop large dollops of dough onto the apple mixture and sprinkle the biscuits with the remaining sugar. Bake the cobbler 30 to 35 minutes or until the filling is hot and bubbly and the biscuits are puffy and golden brown. Remove the pan from the oven and set it aside to cool.

Serve the cobbler warm or at room temperature with a scoop of ice cream, if desired.

Stuffed Burgers with Roasted Red Peppers, Blue Cheese and Caramelized Onions

2 tps. olive oil
3 large sweet onions, peeled and sliced
2 lbs. ground chuck or ground sirloin
1 8-oz. jar roasted red peppers
4 ozs. blue cheese
Coarse salt and freshly ground pepper, to taste
4 Kaiser rolls or hamburger buns

Heat a large skillet over medium heat, add the olive oil, and swirl to coat the bottom of the pan. Add the onions and sauté until they are golden brown, stirring occasionally, about 10 to 15 minutes. Remove the caramelized onions from the heat and cover to keep them warm.

While the onions sauté, preheat the grill. Form ground chuck into eight patties, about ¼ inch thick. Place a large strip of roasted pepper and several slices of blue cheese on four of the patties, pressing the edges well with your fingers to seal in the peppers and cheese. Season the stuffed patties with salt and pepper.

When the grill is hot, cook the burgers over medium heat four minutes on each side. Turn them over and cook three minutes more on each side, or until they are cooked to the desired degree of doneness.

Place burgers on rolls and top them with onions.

Beat Snack Attacks with a Handful of Almonds

The clock strikes 11 a.m. and the breakfast you had a few hours earlier isn't keeping your stomach from growling, yet it's too early for lunch. A snack, perhaps? Great idea, but it's the unplanned mid-morning and mid-afternoon meals that often steer people off the healthy track and smack into a bag of caloric trouble.

Cynthia Sass, registered dietitian and author of New York Times bestselling book "Cinch! Conquer Cravings, Drop Pounds and Lose Inches," is an advocate of snacking your way to a pair of skinny jeans. All it takes is a little smarts when it comes to choosing snacks and for Sass, her favorite is a handful of almonds.

"I encourage snacking. It helps one stay slim and healthy," Sass says. "The right snack keeps metabolism revved up and energy levels high while preventing mid-morning and mid-afternoon snacking. This is why I always encourage a handful of almonds as the ideal snack to turn to when you have the snacking urge."

If there is time to prepare a more complex snack, Sass recommends the following easy ideas to satisfy mid-morning or afternoon hunger:

- Layer a parfait in a special clear glass dish. Choose vibrant colors and textures, like crisp sliced almonds. Arrange even simple snacks in artful ways, and garnish with fresh mint or edible flowers.
- Make a few squares of 70 percent cocoa or darker your second snack of the day, or whip up my signature dark chocolate truffles, made with almond butter.
- Slather two tablespoons of almond butter on a slice of whole grain toast topped with a sliced peach and a dash of cinnamon.
- Combine frozen, pitted, unsweetened cherries, a small scoop of rolled oats, almond milk, almond butter and a pinch of cardamom.

When Sass is on-the-go, she fills her Almond Board of California tin with whole natural almonds and tucks it in her purse for a tasty and portable snacking fix.

"It's the perfect snack of 23 almonds," says Sass. "It can help avoid energy crashes and gets me through the work day without indulging in not-so-good foods."

Tropical Granola Parfait Created by: Almond Board of California

Serving size: 1

- 1 (6-ounce) container low-fat or fat-free flavored yogurt
- 1/2 cup sliced fruit
- 1/3 cup Tropical Granola (recipe below)

- Tropical Granola:
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
  - 2 tablespoons brown sugar

- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 cups old-fashioned oats
- 1 cup sliced almonds
- 1/2 cup flaked coconut
- 2 teaspoons wheat germ (optional)

Layer yogurt, fruit and granola in a juice glass. Try a combination of: Pineapple yogurt with sliced mango or kiwi, Lemon or peach yogurt with berries, or Vanilla yogurt with sliced bananas

Tropical Granola:
Preheat oven to 300°F. Combine oil, brown sugar and vanilla in a medium bowl, mixing until smooth. Stir in oats. Transfer mixture to a baking dish and bake 15 minutes. Stir in almonds, coconut and wheat germ if desired, and bake 15 to 20 minutes more, until almonds and coconut are golden and fragrant. Cool and serve, or store airtight up to 1 week.
